Singer-songwriter Trent Cowie blends Texas country roots with rock's rebellious spirit to create heartfelt, relatable anthems.

Originally from Magnolia, Texas, Trent was introduced to music through church, his grandmother's piano, and raised in a family where tunes were always playing, it didn't take long for him to fall in love with country music. His inspirations come from everywhere—he draws from old-school country to 2000s rock.

Trent has opened for country legends like Tracy Lawrence, Pat Green, and Roger Creager.
